World Leaders Gathering For Churchill's Funeral

LONDON (CP) — An endless throng of mourners, many praying and weeping, moved past the bier of Sir Winston Churchill in ancient Westminster Hall today while government leaders gathered from around the world to attend his funeral Saturday.

The total of persons who have passed through the great hall since it was opened to the public Wednesday passed 200,000 and may reach 300,000 before the gates are closed at 6 a.m. Saturday.

Raging Flood Waters Smash Communications In Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Oregon's rivers boiled over their banks again today, less than a month after the most destructive flood in the state's history. The waters washed out bridges, overran roads and homes, caused evacuation of about 150 families and caused many landslides, including one of great size at Mapleton, about 150 miles southwest of Portland.

The elderly postmistress, Mrs. Ida Mae Love, was swept out a side door into a deep ditch 23 yards away. She was taken 15 miles to hospital in Florence. About 25 cars were hurled into the show windows and store fronts of seven shops and restaurants. There was no official estimate of damage, but a reporter said it would be at least $50,000.

The Willamette River in Portland was expected to reach 19.5 feet today, 23.5 feet Saturday and 23.5 feet Sunday. The flood stage is 16 feet. The river reached 27.6 feet during the Christmas flood.

Tons of earth peeled off Nerly Mountain, overlooking Mapleton, Thursday. It crashed through the heart of the community of 800, but no one was seriously injured. The post office was destroyed.

Plot By Indonesia "Smashed" In Malaysian Police Swoop

KUALA LUMPUR (Reuters) — The Malaysian government today announced the arrest of three major opposition leaders and claimed to have smashed an Indonesian plot to start an armed rebellion in Malaysia.

One of those arrested was Inche Abdul Aziz Bin Ishak, a younger brother of Singapore's head of state, Tun Yusof Bin Ishak.

The government alleged all three were involved in an Indonesian plot to set up a rebel Malaysian government in exile and foment armed rebellion in the country.

The government statement said the three men had been in contact with an Indonesian intelligence agent, R. M. Soenita, a former attaché in the Indonesian embassy in Kuala Lumpur, and had received large sums of money from him.

"These three persons had made plans to leave Malaysia to set up an Indonesian-sponsored government in exile," said the statement.

Quick B.C. Burial Meted Out To Undertakers' Control Bill

VICTORIA (CP) — A petition aimed at regulating the undertaking business in British Columbia got a quick burial in the legislature Thursday.

The petition seeking a private bill to incorporate Western Embalmers Association went into limbo when Opposition leader Strachan objected, denying it the unanimous consent needed to be considered by the House.

Sponsor Ernie Lecours (SC-Delta) said he hadn't wanted to present the bill and had no plans to re-introduce it.

Mr. Strachan told reporters he understood the bill would have the effect of giving embalmers the power to control their industry and put memorial societies out of business.

Mr. Lecours said he had only agreed to present the petition when he found too late that his name had been entered as the bill's sponsor.

Storage Tank Blast Injures 5 Firemen

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Explosions and fire ripped through a propane storage tank site Thursday, rocking the Sunland Park Race Track area and injuring five firemen. Joe Wilson, administrative assistant to the fire chief, was in critical condition after a hose crew he was leading was enveloped by flames from an explosion.

It took $11 in bills to make the bogus $10, and 2. Mutilated bills can be turned in for new ones only if three-fifths of the bill is intact; cutting out the Hamilton portrait makes the $10 bill worthless.

Agents are on the lookout for more of the bogus bills—apparently in hopes of catching the counterfeiter before he goes broke.

Trail Blazers May Be Stuck

MOSCOW (CP) — A Soviet spokesman refused today to confirm or deny a report that Russian authorities had dispatched an icebreaker to accompany the Montreal-bound vessel Indigirka into the St. Lawrence River.

It was reported Thursday by usually reliable sources that the Soviet Union had decided on the move after the vessel Volkshoves got stuck in ice coming downriver from Montreal.

Both ships are Russian. They are trail blazers in a newly inaugurated winter freight service between Leningrad and Montreal.

The Soviet spokesman first described the report of the dispatch of an icebreaker as a mistake. Later, however, he modified this by stating: "I am not sure it is right. I have not heard it."

He also said he had not heard the Volkshoves getting stuck but commented: "I think it will be all right."

WHEAT CHEAPER

Cuts in Canadian wheat prices of up to 13 cents a bushel, were announced by Trade Minister Sharp (above) in Ottawa today. This was the second trimming of prices this week bringing the total reduction up to 20 cents. Mr. Sharp said the cuts were in reaction to cuts made by other countries, not only the U.S. and France, but also Australia.

Greek Paper Raps Makarios

ATHENS (AP) — The pro-government newspaper Eleftheria accused President Makarios of Cyprus today of no longer wanting union of the island with Greece.

A number of foreign commentators have said the same thing in the past, but this was the first time a leading Greek newspaper had said it.

Capital Murder Charge Laid In Edmonton Dynamiting Case

EDMONTON (CP) — A capital murder charge was laid Thursday against a farm laborer in the shooting of a guard at an Edmonton aircraft factory where three American F-86 jet interceptors were damaged by dynamite blasts.

Therion J. Richardson, 48, of Edmonton was found in a security office at the front gate of the plant.

C. D. Reekie, executive vice-president of Northwest Industries, Limited, said in a statement that Mr. Richardson was bound and gagged before he was shot.

"Ike" College Plan Starts At Albany

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state board of regents granted a charter Thursday for a new, four-year liberal arts college near Seneca Falls, named for former president Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Richardson, father of two children, was a member of the Canadian Corps of Commissioners, which patrolled the plant.

The jets were among 112 being overhauled by the company under a $1,000,000 contract awarded last July.

JUVENILES HELD AT SALMON ARM AFTER RCMP CONSTABLE STABBED

SALMON ARM (CP) — Four juveniles were arrested Thursday following the stabbing of RCMP Cpl. John Lawson, 33. Police said Cpl. Lawson was stabbed in the back earlier in the day while transporting four juvenile robbery suspects here from Tappen, 10 miles north of this central Interior community. He was reported in good condition in hospital. Police said two of the four juveniles were charged with breaking and entering and possession of stolen property. Further charges are pending. Police said the other two, one a girl, said they were 18 and appeared in an adult court where they were charged but that it was later found they were juveniles. Cpl. Lawson rammed his patrol car into a snowbank and rolled out the door to escape further attack. The prisoners commandeered the police car but were captured minutes later by Cpl. Lawson's partner.

Soviet Told "Ready To Go" On Tests In Atmosphere

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States disclosed today that it has developed and deployed new, more powerful and versatile nuclear bombs and long-range missiles. The Atomic Energy Commission, making its annual report to congress, said the improvements had come despite being restricted to underground testing under the limited test-ban treaty.

While indicating the new weapons had increased powers to penetrate enemy defenses and to withstand counter-measures, the AEC said still further progress along these lines was made in weapons still under development in closely guarded laboratories. And the government implicitly served notice on Russia that it has completed preparations to resume atmospheric tests "on short notice" — that is, within two months for some types of tests — if the Soviet Union should abrogate the treaty now banning them. Moreover, it was revealed that somewhere in the now-ready Pacific testing area — centered at Johnston Island — stockpiled testing materials include rockets for conducting tests at both "close-in and far-out" altitudes.

Extradition Near For Drug Suspect

MONTREAL (CP) — Lucien Rivard today lost in his attempt to avoid extradition, and unless he can appeal successfully, will be sent to the United States. Judge Francois Caron rejected a writ of habeas corpus which had been obtained by Rivard in an effort to stave off deportation to the U.S., where he is wanted on a charge of conspiracy in narcotics smuggling.

Raymond Daoust, lawyer for Rivard, said Judge Caron's ruling will be appealed. He gave no date for filing an appeal. Three other men involved in the same extradition case had their judgments postponed until Feb. 3 after Pierre Lamontagne, representing the U.S. government, asked for the delay.

Mr. Daoust had argued that the proposed extradition of Rivard was not provided for under the Canada-U.S. treaty and that, since the alleged narcotics smuggling took place between the U.S. and Mexico, Canada was not involved and extradition from here had no basis in law. The judge rejected these arguments.

Costs "Must Be Kept In Line" — Gordon Of Economy's Growth

CALGARY (CP) — Finance Minister Walter Gordon said today that in moving towards the economic council's goals for 1970 Canada must keep its costs in line and avoid inflation. The economic council said earlier this month in its first annual review that the economy must grow at a rapid rate in order to absorb an abnormally large increase in the labor force resulting from the spurt in the birth rate 20 years ago after the Second World War.

Mr. Gordon, addressing the Alberta Society of Petroleum Geologists, said Western Canada already has had a substantial growth of industry, its experiences can be a lesson for other regions.

Three Arrested After Bombing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI announced today that it had arrested three persons in the Sunday bombing of two cars and a funeral home in New Haven, N.C.

WARNERS OF INFLATION

"We have therefore to avoid cost-inflation, and to promote greater efficiency and productivity throughout our economy," Mr. Gordon said manufacturing expansion creates more new jobs than growth of agriculture or resource development and will be important in attaining the 1970 goals.

Britain's new foreign secretary, Michael Stewart (above) accepted an invitation to dine tonight with U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and get acquainted. Rusk arrived in London Thursday night as a member of the official U.S. delegation for the funeral of Sir Winston Churchill.

C of C President Highlights Year

VERNON — Don G. MacMillan, retiring president, Vernon's C of C, highlighted the year's work in a report to the chamber of commerce 1964-65 annual meeting. The report, made at the chamber's annual installation banquet, in the look forward to another year of progress in the very near future.

Under the chairmanship of Bill MacMillan, the incoming president, a Summer Carnival was staged last year in conjunction with the Kalamalka Lake swim. This included a rodeo as well as an experimental mail on the main street. While the summer carnival experienced the usual difficulties on its first presentation, we believe on the whole it was worthwhile but will require a great deal more organization and committee work if it is to become financially successful and a regular event in the future.

"As you know, in 1963, the Retail Merchants' Association became a committee of the chamber and we believe a closer co-operation between the city merchants and other businessmen has been accomplished. Our membership showed a slight increase over the past year and we feel that it can still be increased, particularly from new businesses which have commenced operation in Vernon as well as a number of merchants who still have not joined the chamber. I believe it will be of mutual assistance to both organizations if even better co-operation and larger participation can be maintained."

COMPLEX MOVE
Mr. MacMillan continued, "we were very pleased to have assisted in publishing the civic complex and the relative by-laws, which were successfully passed. The first stage of construction is well underway and we are hopeful that during 1965 a major portion of the work will be completed. If the complex can be brought to a successful conclusion we will have in Vernon a new and efficient complex of buildings which should be second to none in Western Canada."

"We have again assisted the

Anglicans Hold Meet

VERNON — In presenting his report to the annual general meeting of the Anglican Church, Vernon, Sunday school general superintendent L. A. Mitchell, said the enrollment was 267 at November last year.

There is a staff of 29 teachers. Mr. Mitchell appealed for more teachers, particularly men.

Next September, Anglican Church schools across Canada will make partial use of a new curriculum, "This," said Mr. Mitchell, "requires instructors who are mature in thought and outlook, and are willing to help children become aware of their Christian rights and duties."

Receipts in the Sunday school during 1964 totalled $850. An upsurge of attendance in Coldstream Sunday School was reported by superintendent Miss Hilda Giles, who said one Sunday recently there was an attendance of 85. There are five classes. Receipts totalled $180.

Film Discussion Shows Problems In Integration

Integration is the social and economic acceptance and participation of people into a community. Norman Whitehead, Vernon Indian agent said at a film discussion program Thursday.

Eighty people attended the film at the Kelowna senior high school, which were followed by a panel discussion on the subject "Indian Integration".

Panel members were Mrs. F. McWilliams, chairman, Chief Norman Landley, Westbank Indian band, Rev. Father Norman Black, Penicton, Mrs. Murray, member of the band, and Miss Joan Adams, an Indian councillor in Manitoba.

The first film, "Circle in the Sun" was about a meeting of the Blood Indians of Southwest Alberta. It gave the views of a young Indian boy as he attended an annual reunion of his people.

The second film, "Transition" was about Jim Robertson, a 19-year-old Indian boy who went to the city to work.

Insufficient Employment Provided At Present On Indian Reserves

He spent many long hours and wanted to return home. He did however, finish his trade and found employment. But he began to incur debts and soon returned to the reserve to seek refuge.

The boy was discussing the matter with his father at the close of the film.

RESERVES

Mr. Whitehead said Indian reserves do not provide the employment opportunity for the increased number of Indians at present.

"At one time it was thought Indians were a dying race. Now there are more Indians than ever, with 41,000 in British Columbia. This total could double in 20 years," he said.

Heaviest Snowfall In Kelowna For 1964-65 Winter Season

C. P. Erridge, Kelowna weatherman said today Kelowna was blanketed by 5 1/2 inches of snow Wednesday overnight ending at 11:30 a.m. Thursday.

This is the most snow Kelowna has had overnight in the 1964-65 snow season, October to April.

Temperature readings in Kelowna showed a high of 41 and a low of 30 with 2 inches of snow, compared to a high-low of 41 and 33 with a trace of snow a year ago.

The Okanagan regional forecast by the Vancouver weather office is mostly cloudy today, and again Saturday with occasional rain in southern sections, elsewhere occasional wet snow or rain and snow mixed, mild, light winds today southerly 15 Saturday.

A weak ridge of high pressure air lying over the western part of British Columbia this morning will move inland and continue to weaken during the day.

A disturbance approaching from the west this morning is expected to bring rain to all coastal sections of the province by evening. It is also expected to weaken as it crosses the coast and will be followed by a more vigorous system Saturday which will maintain rainy weather on the coast for much of the day, and carry snow to the interior. Fairly mild conditions are expected to persist in all sections and should result in rain, rather than snow, in the southern interior valleys.

Low tonight and high Saturday at Penicton is expected to be 32 and 40 the weather office predicts.

The 76,000 box shipment from the Okanagan is 3,500,000 pounds and valued at $350,000. The apples will be unloaded at Venezuela, Liverpool and Dublin.

Retail Group Will Review Parking Lot

The Kelowna Retailers' association, at their annual meeting Thursday, passed a resolution to review the financial set-up of the Chapman parking lot.

E. M. Sinclair was elected president for 1965. He was formerly vice-president and succeeds Douglas Haworth. Hector Turvey was elected for his first term as vice-president.

John Fiske, president of the Kelowna chamber of commerce, was a guest at the meeting.

"I look forward to another year of working closely with the retailers' association," he said. The resolution requested a meeting with Alderman E. R. Winter and downtown property holders and retailers, to review the financial set up of the lot.

A letter was read from Kelowna Musical Productions asking to be in the window displays in 1965 for $84,000 through a money bylaw. The payments are being paid through revenue week of March 1. Oatman each year, after expenses, and an assessment on a designated number of downtown business-men surrounding the lot.

Alan Anderson, secretary of downtown parking commission said today.

PAYMENTS

"During the first three years of operation, only $6,000 was paid on the principal due to heavy expenses in clearing the lot, graveling and paving."

"Now the paving is completed there will be more revenue above expenses to apply on the payments. There are 62 spaces for rent with an annual return of about $3,600."

"Payments for 1965 will be $3,000 for the principal and $2,310 for interest. $2,000 will be obtained through assessments on the businesses."

Ald. L. A. N. Porterson and Ald. Thomas Angus discussed parking problems and the effort being made to eliminate "sleepers" on downtown streets.

"Sleepers" are the downtown office workers who move their vehicles from one parking space to another every day, instead of parking in all day parking areas.

PARKING METERS

"More and more merchants are recommending with regret the installation of parking meters as the best method of obtaining more parking space for shoppers and to eliminate these sleepers," Mr. Sinclair said.

The meeting also unanimously endorsed the request of Westbank to join the Kelowna Telephone exchange. A letter is to be forwarded to the telephone company.

Other officers elected Thursday include Brian Hooker, Mrs. Pegi Lee and W. O. "Bill" Treadgold as directors for a three year term.

J. D. Taylor and Fred Williams were elected for one term to fill the unexpired terms of Mr. Turvey and of Glen Lawrence who resigned. Mr. Oatman continues to serve the second year of his two year term.

SCHOOL BOARD BRIEFS

The board of School District No. 23, meeting Thursday night, agreed to name the new school in the Lombardy Park subdivision the Bankhead elementary school.

The board approved a building committee suggestion to approach Meiklejohn and Gower, Penicton architects, on plans for adding two rooms and a library to Westbank elementary school.

Mr. Fulkas said the department of education rejected the building costs of the new Bankhead school as too high and said the board must omit the planned boys' and girls' change rooms at this stage.

The board decided to post internally a job opening for a new bus supervisor. This is a new position recommended by the transportation and repair and maintenance committees to relieve the work load.

Mr. Orme said all district schools will close by noon Friday in respect for Sir Winston Churchill. Some elementary schools, who require bus transportation, will close at 11:45 a.m. Afternoon shift pupils will be asked to come in at 10:45-11 a.m. to attend ceremonies and be dismissed after.

Permission was granted seven girls, pupils of the Kelowna secondary school to miss classes Feb. 26 so they may attend a Y-Teen conference in Vancouver.

The board approved a resolution to ask authority from the department of education to purchase three buses, two new and one replacement.

The board agreed to two new school names, the North Kelowna and South Rutland, both elementary.

Asked by board member Mr. Carter what flag to fly, Mr. Orme said, "It was up to the department and whatever they direct and supply, we'll fly."

The board approved a resolution to borrow up to $250,000 under Referendum No. 7.

ONE FIRE CALL

The Kelowna volunteer firemen were called to 844 Leon Ave., Thursday, to extinguish a fire in a TV set. Cause was believed to be a short in the wiring, a fireman said. The damage was confined to the set.

The fire hall answered three ambulance calls Thursday, between private homes and the Kelowna General Hospital or convalescent hospitals.

SPEECH THERAPY ONE OF MAIN SERVICES OFFERED

Mothers' March 'Blitz' Monday

The Mothers' March on polio begins in city areas Monday, Feb. 1 with speech therapy one of the main services being offered in this area from the funds raised.

"The annual campaign will be a one-night blitz," said Alan Hampton, chairman. "The mothers will begin 'marching' for the drive at 6 p.m. and finish at 8 p.m."

A speech therapist has been set up with an office in Kelowna and as a result Kelowna will be directly involved in the proceeds-raised. The new speech therapist is a native Canadian, born in Winnipeg, but who studied in England.

The speech therapy program provides for patients of all age groups with care, training and treatment.

"The program includes people who have never been able to speak, people who have lost their speech through illness or accidents and people with stutters, voice disorders and cleft palates."

"JIMMY"

It comes for people such as boy who had never been able to speak. "Jimmy" was examined and found to be suffering from a rare condition called congenital receptive aphasia which allowed him to hear sounds but unable to interpret them into words and ideas.

He was put through a socializing and training process with disciplined training to help him develop the basics which are usually obtained early in life.

The training program was increased as his "learning" increased until he learned to utter speech sounds and was finally able to speak clearly.

"Jimmy" is only one of many cases handled annually by speech therapists provided through polio campaigns such as the Mothers' March each year.

KELOWNA OFFICE

In the Kelowna office Miss Deakin has 50 patients which she treats each week, 80 per cent of these are children. Her office is in the Health Center on Queenway. She works three days each week in Kelowna and two in Penticton.

"Most of the cases are treated individually," she said. "The patients are usually referred to me through doctors or the public health nurse."

"We use a number of machines including a tape machine and an audio meter diagnostic testing machine and also toys, books and drawings to aid in speech learning."

"We have treatment in Kelowna for children with problems in articulation, delayed language and other voice disorders, stammering, cleft palates, and deaf children with speech and language problems."

"Adult cases include those with speech loss through illness and accidents and people who have undergone tongue and larynx surgery," she said.

Miss Deakin began studying speech therapy in England, after one year in England and over nine years in Vancouver, in the advertising business.

She graduated with honors as a Licentiate of the College of Speech Therapists from the Kingdom-Ward School in London.

She worked in the speech clinic in Croydon and in the London hospital with her time divided between speech therapy and lectures in speech pathology and therapeutics, before coming to Kelowna.

Vancouver Testimonial Dinner Poorly Handled

Down in Vancouver they are getting into a bit about the testimonial dinner being arranged to honor Premier Bennett on his having set a record for length of service as the premier of the province. The whole affair started with one, grew into two and the way things are going could be three by the time this is in print.

The proposal was to honor Mr. Bennett with a testimonial dinner and the City of Vancouver would make him a freeman. On the surface the idea was apparently a quite laudable one. However it did lead to speculation that the proposal was being made basically in an attempt to mend the rather strained relations which have existed between the province's largest city and the provincial government.

The dinner was planned for the Vancouver-Hilton and Mrs. Margaret Murray, the fiery publisher of the weekly paper in Lillooet, was asked to be the only speaker. She accepted, but then the committee decided to make the dinner a stag affair because of accommodation and, for this reason, Mrs. Murray was asked to withdraw. She did, but accepted an invitation to speak at the second dinner being held in the Hotel Georgia. Since then the pot has been boiling in Vancouver.

The original committee has no one but itself to blame. It never should have asked Mrs. Murray to speak on such an occasion. To do so was either asking for controversy and embarassment for the premier—which certainly would have killed any friendly atmosphere—or it was just a very stupid act.

Mrs. Murray is a colorful figure and would have made a very interesting speech indeed. Very definitely it would not have been boring. But Mrs. Murray has been Mr. Bennett's ardent political enemy for years. Her paper has said some very harsh things indeed about him and she never hesitates to voice the same opinion verbally at the slightest excuse. It is more than astounding that the committee would have even considered her as speaker at a meeting which was supposed to have been a complimentary one for the premier.

Of course, it has been suggested the committee changed its mind after hearing from Victoria. This may well be true; it would be surprising if it wasn't. No man will willingly put himself in the position of being torn to pieces without an adequate chance of replying. And, at such an affair, common politeness would rule that out.

Now it would almost appear that the second dinner would outshine the first; in glamor and interest, at least, if not in prestige.

The pity of it is that this whole unfortunate affair could have been avoided. But, then, if there was ever a city with the faculty of always bailing up anything it puts its hands to, that city is Vancouver. Even such a simple thing as a testimonial dinner.

And We Still Await

Canadian fishermen this year have enjoyed some of the best—and most rewarding—catches in years. The Fisheries Department, in a review of spring and summer catches and markets this week, reports that to the end of August fishermen's gross income was up 30 per cent from the 1959-63 average.

This is a bright note in what has often been—for many—a marginal and hard-luck industry. But it also serves to underline all over again the nonsense of our present Unemployment Insurance scheme, and the never-never quality of the reforms that have been promised.

A good many of the fishermen who have done so well will be collecting unemployment insurance, not because their annual income is insufficient to their needs or because they are truly out of work, but because the season has closed for the particular fish which they harvest. Their benefits will be paid by people frequently enjoying lower annual incomes—and the employers of such people—by government subsidy. They have never themselves paid enough into the fund to cover what they take out.

In December of 1962 the Royal Commission on Unemployment Insurance, chaired by Mr. Ernest C. Gill, presented recommendations which would have corrected this and other inequities, and establish the Unemployment Insurance Fund on a sound basis. Canada is still waiting for these recommendations to be implemented. In the meantime, as happened last April when Senator Gratlan O'Leary blocked payments to the unemployed, the fund recurrently goes bankrupt and must be subsidized.

The present unemployment insurance plan is unjust and unsound because it confuses unemployment insurance with welfare, and extracts the greater part of the money to pay benefits from Canada's lowest paid workers and their employers—the groups least capable of sustaining this burden.

The Gill Commission proposed basic changes. First, it would have introduced a degree of universality; all workers, with certain exceptions, would have paid premiums on their incomes to an established maximum and been eligible for benefits. The exceptions were domestic and farm workers. A separate plan would have been established for fishermen.

Second, the Gill Commission would have divided insurance from welfare, to a considerable degree, by setting up a three-part program. The first part, which would pay benefits for a maximum of 26 weeks, would be wholly supported by workers and their employers, on the ground that unemployment of such duration might reasonably be considered to be without any element of welfare.

At the conclusion of this period, however, the commission felt welfare would enter the picture. Benefits would be continued for a further maximum of 39 weeks, without a means test, but would be provided out of federal taxes. The reasoning behind this was that the costs of welfare, unlike those of insurance benefits, should fall upon the whole of society.

Unemployment lasting longer than this total of 65 weeks, the commission concluded, became wholly welfare, and at this point the chronically unemployed should go on welfare, with a means test, and benefits should be provided on a 50-50 basis by the federal and provincial governments through existing welfare departments.

The commission's recommendations were not completely satisfactory. There is no reason—except the tenderness of politicians for farmers—why farm workers should be excluded from coverage; and the obstacles set in the way of married women receiving benefits during the second stage of the plan are not wholly acceptable. But basically the recommendations provided the foundation for a sound unemployment insurance plan with the capacity to merge into a welfare plan, while distributing the burdens and the benefits equitably. Unfortunately, they have not been passed into law.

Is it too much to hope that legislation to implement most of the Gill Commission recommendations will be high on the Government's schedule when Parliament reconvenes?

ALL READY TO LEAD THE PARADE

Kelowna Man's 1943 Letter Recalls Churchill Meeting

Winston A. Shillock, Imperial Apartments, whose father was a greater admirer of Sir Winston Churchill, was named after the great statesman. Oddly enough he had the opportunity of meeting him while stationed with the air force at Gander in June of 1943. Naturally he reported the meeting in a letter home.

The following, in part, is his report written at the time:

"The CO went down to meet him and the first view I had of him was when he drove up in the car. The men had all lined up opposite the mess and as he passed them, he was in front of me and I had a profile view of his face with the cigar and his hand stuck up for them to see, showing his favorite V sign with two fingers.

HAD THREE

When he arrived in the mess I was introduced to him as the PMC; we shook hands, then he took me by the arm, turned around and introduced me to General Brooke, General Marshall and General Canby, as the president of the mess.

Following that, I asked him if he would care for a drink and he said, 'No thanks, not before dinner'. Then in a lower voice he said, 'Confidentially, I've had five or six on the way up'. However, in a few minutes he disappeared with the CO and this morning the CO said he had taken him over to his room and asked him if he would care for a drink, and he said, 'No, I would like two', and ended up by having three. I guess he didn't want to set a bad example!

After he returned to the mess there was a bit of a lull so I had a chance to tell him my name was also Winston, and he said, 'Good boy'. He was going to add something else when a Short-Sorter came along and asked to see his bill. (Churchill was caught without it last year and it cost him $44.) This time he beat all over and said, 'ah, hah, you're not catching me this time', and pulled out his bill. He then said he would sign everyone's bill, so we all crowded around and he went to work. I got him to sign one for me for what I probably be a Short-Sorter before I leave here and will use the bill with his signature and all. He then signed our register and also got him and the others to sign a sheet of paper and we are also signing it and are going to have photos made of it, so will get one.

EATING TIME

It was time to eat by this time, so we all tramped into the dining room, and as PMC I sat at the head table, two seats away from Churchill and next to his personal aide, Commander Thompson.

We had quite an interesting chat. I asked him if Churchill really got along with as little sleep as he had been told, and he said, 'Yes, Churchill starts between 8 and 9 in the morning, works till lunch time, then works for an hour after lunch and then sleeps for 1 1/2 hours. No matter what he is going on, he sleeps that hour and a half. He goes to sleep immediately he hits the pillow. He then gets up and goes continuously till anywhere from 1:30 to 3:30 a.m. Thompson says he just about kills him and that it is now so bad that he and first private secretary take turns—one on one night and one the other.

Churchill has six secretaries at home in addition to Thompson, and the two secretaries he takes with him on trips, and he keeps them going continuously. What they have to do is to hold down all the dope for him so he can get the drift of things as fast as possible. From this information, he drafts all his own work and even writes his own speech. Coming from Washington he dictated steadily for five hours. The second secretary, by the way is an MA, PhD, B.Sc. I don't know what the first secretary's degrees are.

I also asked Thompson if Churchill and Roosevelt were really close friends or if it was just newspaper talk. He said they were very friendly and that Roosevelt worships Churchill. He keeps Roosevelt in fits of laughter till the tears roll down his cheeks.

PUFFS MERRILY

Thompson travels everywhere with Churchill, so I said, 'You have covered a lot of territory.' He said, 'Yes, and I'm going to cover a lot more.' I also asked him if Churchill smoked any particular brand of cigar and he said, 'No, just so long as it is a cigar.' As I remember, he smoked five cigars in the two hours he was here—and that time also included dinner. He really prefers his own 65-cent brand and when we passed cigars (15c) after dinner, he lit his, took a couple of puffs, held it out and looked at it, said it was good, and then put it down. I thought he wasn't going to smoke it, but he picked it up and puffed merrily on. He threw the ends about an inch and a half down—and I mean threw.

At this point I had a brain-wave to invite the Army Chaplain down (only three senior officers were at the dinner) so Churchill said, 'Fine.' He said he didn't want to meet them all individually for he was rather tired. I begged on the phone to Kirkpatrick and he rounded up everyone he could find.

MANY THREE

Then we went back into the mess and a few minutes later the army chaplains arrived. Just before they got there, though, I asked Thompson if he thought Churchill would mind if I asked for his signature on a piece of paper, and he said, 'Not at all.' I grabbed a letterhead and said to Churchill, 'Would you mind signing this, sir, as one Winston looked just like that picture of him in the pamphlet we have of his address to the House of Commons in Ottawa' and said, 'Not at all.' Then he signed the paper I am enclosing.

Eyes Blazed At Thoughts Of Nazis: 'He Hates Them With All He's Got'

The army arrived at this point, and after saying he didn't want to meet them individually, he walked over and shook hands with nearly all of them. The CO had asked him to say a few words to us, so we got around in a half circle and he gave them a dandy talk for about five minutes. He started out easily, but when he started to talk about the Nazis his chin stuck out and his eyes really blazed. Although his talk was quite general he really got steamed up. I think he hates the Nazis with everything he's got. Then he asked General Marshall to say a few words, and then General Brooke. As Brooke finished he mentioned that he had been here last year, and then Churchill burst in and said, 'And I may say our affairs are in much better shape than they were this time last year,' which brought forth much laughter and hand clapping.

THREE CHEERS

By this time they were ready to go, so we gave Churchill three cheers and the party left. We walked down to see him off (he wanted to walk) and as we got to the plane, one of the nursing sisters showed me her autograph book and said 'I guess I brought this for nothing.' I said, 'Go ahead and ask him, all he can say is no.' So she dashed up to him and sure enough he signed the book. I think she was the happiest person there.

So Churchill and his party soared into the air, and left our station.

OTTAWA REPORT

How Does Party Unseat Leader?

By PATRICK NICHOLSON
Daily Courier Ottawa Bureau

Many Canadians are puzzled by the public manifestations of Conservative MPs unhappy with the leadership of their party. "How does a political party unseat its leader?" they ask.

Well might the public be puzzled, for this very question is the leader to which the MPs themselves have no answer.

The constitution of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada is not very helpful. Article XI says this: "Leadership Convention. The National Association shall be the authority in which is vested the power to elect the leader of the Progressive Conservative Party of Canada and shall call any convention for that purpose."

That says how a leader is elected, but not a word of how a leader can be de-elected. The presumption is that, once elected, a leader of the Conservative Party shall hold office until he dies or resigns voluntarily. There is no provision in the constitution whereby he can be voted out of office by the National Association.

A similar situation exists in the Liberal Party. Since we rule out violence in a democracy, this suggests that a leader in Canada, once elected, enjoys a more autocratic position and greater security of tenure even than a dictator or an absolute monarch. History is littered with examples of both such who have been overthrown by violence.

DEMOCRATIC NDP

The New Democrat Party however has a clearly expressed and much more democratic situation. Its elected leader must lay his job on the line at a convention every two years, when he may be confirmed as leader, or be replaced.

The constitution of the NDP says, in Article 4: "The Party shall meet in convention at least once every two years, at a time and place determined by the council of the federal party."

It continues, in Article 6: "1. The convention shall elect the following officers: (a) a leader... 2. The leader shall act as leader of the party in the federal House of Commons. 3. Should the position of leader become vacant between elections, the council of the federal party may, after consultation with the parliamentary caucus, appoint an acting leader to serve until such time as a convention may be called. This makes it abundantly clear, and past conventions bear this out, that a convention held in alternate years shall elect the national leader of the party. In practice, Tommy Douglas has been re-elected without opposition.

POWER OF CAUCUS?
There is nothing in the constitution of the Conservative Party to say that the leader elected by the national association in convention shall be the party leader in the House of Commons. In contrast, the NDP constitution does specify this. In theory, therefore, the Conservative MPs could elect their own leader to head their group in the Commons. In fact there are historical precedents for this. The Tories have had one man as national leader and another as House leader—this was a temporary situation while the national leader had not yet won a seat in the Commons. But there is no constitutional reason why the MPs, by a simple majority vote, could not elect as their parliamentary leader someone other than the national leader.

There is obviously an unfortunate void in the constitution of the Conservative Party. Events now taking place will probably lead to an amendment to the constitution, to introduce the democratic system whereby the leader should be confirmed or replaced periodically, as in the NDP and as in both the parties in the U.S.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Brain Hemorrhage Rare In Young

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner:

Your articles have explained so many things I have wondered about. Here is a snippet about a seven-year-old boy who died of a brain hemorrhage. Last year I had a friend whose son was 13 and died of the same thing. He had a headache, became unconscious, then had seizures and paralysis and died in a few hours. Could you explain this?—MRS. D.C.

Luckily this doesn't happen very often to the young. The usual cause is the rupture of an aneurysm. An aneurysm is a place in an artery inside the skull. This may be a flaw with which the individual is born. It can occur because of physical injury, of course, but that means a shattering type of accident. The skull protects against minor (or even pretty hard) bumps causing such damage.

When it happens, it is a "stroke," or at least one form of stroke, and precisely the same sort of thing which occurs with far greater frequency among older people, because in them the elements of high blood pressure and gradual deterioration of the arteries play a part. But the result is the same. It may be a "little stroke," or one of maximum severity, or anywhere in between.

With young people, brain surgery sometimes is possible. The blood vessels in general are pliable and strong, rather than hardened and brittle. Hence, once a child has survived the original attack, such surgery can repair the ruptured area with remarkably good results. In some instances, immediate surgery, to reduce pressure, can be attempted, but I should warn that this cannot always be done, or even tried. I stress this to avoid the possibility of someone feeling that "they should have tried to do something for this child." There are cases, heart-breaking as they are, in which nothing can be done. But at least strokes among children are rare and that is why, when they do happen, they receive considerable notice.

Dear Dr. Molner: Quite a few people in our locality draw their drinking water from a deep well at the town pump. I am sure the water contains lime. Is there any harm in it, such as kidney stones, or does the body pass off the lime or consume it?—O.R.B.

Unless you already have kidney or heart trouble, I wouldn't worry—and even then the presence of sodium or other materials would be more significant than the lime.

Dear Dr. Molner: Could you send me some booklets, pamphlets and pictures on artificial respiration, the respiratory system, first aid, the circulatory system, shock, and wounds? Send them as immediately as possible.—MISS A. MCC.

I could but I won't. In behalf of myself and lots of other columnists in all sorts of fields, I'll repeat: You've been assigned to write some sort of a paper in school. There's no reason why I should do your homework for you and there are plenty of reasons why I shouldn't. You're supposed to start finding out how to look things up for yourself in the library.

While you're there, get a dictionary and find out what's wrong with the way you spelled "circulatory". You probably will turn up a good student if you work at it—but you won't if I do your work for you.

In a subdued night-club atmosphere, one of Canada's leading entertainers opened a three-night stand at Kelowna's Royal Anne Hotel Victoria Room Thursday night.

Eleanor Collins, of Vancouver, who has been a headliner on radio for years and who has been on television repeatedly, will perform twice each night at 10:30 p.m. and at midnight.

Highlighting the Kelowna late evening entertainment scene, the limousine service brought us to the Royal Anne Supper Club Kelowna shortly after 9 p.m. provides an outlet for late diners and dancers from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. Thursday and Friday nights and from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m. on Saturday nights.

This week Miss Collins will be accompanied by the Kay Dunaway Trio who will also play for the dancers.

Thursday Miss Collins, along with other travellers to the Okanagan, very nearly did not make it.

"I went out to the airport very early Thursday morning," she said, "but just seemed to miss the boat all along. First the regular flights were cancelled and then they said they might go at any minute.

"We finally took off at 6 p.m. and landed at Penticton. The Kelowna service brought us to the Royal Anne Supper Club. It has been a bad day, but you get used to that sort of travelling when you are in the entertainment business," she said.

Mrs. Dunaway, h-a-d been waiting to rehearse with Miss Collins from 3:30 p.m. Thursday afternoon, but it wasn't until 9:30 p.m. that the two got together. There was only a half hour left to check music, style and the little things individual singers use to add to their show.

And Miss Collins has a good deal of that. Her rich voice is only one of her attributes. She is a showman as those who saw her at the 1964-Regatta-Wednesday night show will attest. Thursday night she pulled out all the stops and applause from the diners could be heard all over the hotel.

A timely movie will be presented at the Paramount Theatre at Kalamazoo, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 10.

"The Finest Hours," in color, reveals the events which molded the character of Sir Winston Churchill and enabled him to express the sentiments and resolves of the British nation during the supreme crisis of his life.

Known as "the greatest picture ever known," historical events made Winston Churchill great; but his character was his indomitable strength. This film has shaped the events—the theme of "The Finest Hours."

Lions Churchill's intellect, his humor, his wit and his undiminished courage. He was tough-minded and gentle, a man of wide tastes, fierce passions and great heart.

He was controversial, a writer, painter, novelist, orator, statesman, soldier, diplomat, leader, friend, foe and great lover.

STORY BY JEFFREY L. HARRIS

Talk about reproduction to anybody out a rabbit, and the subject becomes confused.

An extreme example of this happened in 1959 when an item appeared in the Vancouver newspapers that one of my paintings would be used on the cover of the following year's telephone directory.

I had phoned and said that her son, who was a civil servant in Ortawa and an artist, would like to come to Vancouver to help me paint the covers.

I am old enough to know when someone is pulling my leg and my caller certainly was not.

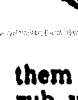

So, I explained, as kindly as possible, the mechanical reproductive process. Furthermore, I suggested that her son not forsake the substance of his civil service position for the shadow of an artist's uncertain existence.

From the time when natives of the South Seas used stencil cut from leaves to repeat deco-reative designs on their canoes to the present day, there have been many methods of multipurpose works of art.

The most important distinction should be drawn however, between reproductions and original prints.

A reproduction is a mechanical copy of the artist's work which is done by others, over which the artist has no direct quality control. As in commercial lithography, this does not mean that some commercially "lithographed" reproductions are not of high quality.

SUPERB EXAMPLES

Modern methods and expert technicians ensure this. There are superb examples of reproductions of fine paintings and unfortunately there is a glut of inferior reproductions of dreary paintings). The quality of color reproductions in mass circulation magazines has been a great force in stimulating appreciation of quality paintings.

So we see less and less of the tired thatched ivy covered cottage with hollyhocks around the door, or preposterous imaginary landscapes.

An original print is an independent work of art conceived and executed by the artist from original drawing to final printing. These take the form of wood cuts, wood engravings, linocuts, etc. which are relief techniques.

Line engraving, drypoint, etchings, mezzotints, aquatints are intaglio techniques; all forms of engraving on metal.

- Don't pick at blemishes. Don't feel the need to squeeze pimples. Don't scratch. Don't make acne worse, invite permanent scars.
- Wash your face with mild soap and water. Use a soft towel to dry your face. Pat dry.
- Use your hands, or attempt to use any part of your face with courage, illness, and may not develop new lesions.
- Don't, don't hope — get started on treatment now. And keep it up. You can't cure acne.

usually copper. Original prints are also produced by lithography. Toulouse - Lautrec's lithographed posters have become collectors' items.

SIGNED WORKS

Original prints are signed and numbered by the artist, the quantity usually limited. Since the printing is done by hand no two prints will be exactly alike so that number one of an edition of 25 may be slightly different than, say, number 19. There are endless variations and combinations of methods such as color woodcuts, hand colored prints, new experimental techniques, silk screen prints, etc.

But there is one thing for sure, identical paintings can't be reproduced in quantity by hand; although some artists give it a pretty good try.

Sinatra Phone Started Fad

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Back in the stone age of Hollywood's history, the status symbol was the tennis court. Then it became the swimming pool—the grander it was, the higher the status.

More recent times have brought the private pejection room, the fully-equipped auto fountain, the yacht, the Palm Springs house, plus the shifting vogue in cars, ranging from custom jobs of obscure European make to the always acceptable Rolls Royce.

Another wrinkle was the car telephone. This was pioneered by Frank Sinatra, a pace-setter in the field of status symbols (private plane, helicopter pace etc.).

Sinatra also provided a classic example of status one-upmanship. It seems that Sammy Davis Jr., then a devout follower, had a telephone installed in his car and called Sinatra car with the telephone.

"Just a minute," said Sinatra. "I've got a call on my other phone."

Living Doll Julie Loses Her Co-Star

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — That living doll, Julie Newman, finds herself bereft of a co-star, but she thinks she'll be able to carry on, thank you.

Last week CBS announced that Robert Cummings had asked for and received his release from My Living Doll, in which he played psychiatrist to a robot (Julie). It was the first time within memory that a star had walked out of a series during its first season, and his action had the trade puzzled. Cummings remained silent.

It had been an ill-kept secret that Bob and Julie did not go along well at all in fact, there were reports of shouting matches.

Julie seemed not at all perturbed about the loss during a luncheon interview. She claimed to be on a diet, then ate everything in sight.

And what about her relationship with Cummings?

She put down her fork for a brief moment. "Oh, dear," she said. "I, unfortunately, am a woman of complete honesty. I would like to tell everything, but Mr. Cummings' relationship with CBS have not been settled legally. If I spoke my mind, I might get involved in possible litigation.

Wants To Sing

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Peter Ford, 19-year-old son of Glenn and Eleanor Powell, does not want to act or dance. He likes a healthy young man, not a singer.

Ford's mother would like him to do it. She weighs 200 pounds and is a athletic A basketball player who has ended his competitive career.

He has the handsomeness of a parent — the most probable one — but he has the equipment, the name and the opportunity to carve himself out of acting careers.

But he doesn't want it. "I've done a bit of acting in my father's pictures," he says, "and Pete 'I have a ball'." But I don't really have it. It's drive to be an actor, and I don't think you can make the grade without it."

ANN LANDERS

Truly Smart Wives Build Husbands Up

Dear Ann Landers: I am a college graduate. My husband dropped out of high school in the tenth grade when his father died. I didn't notice the wide intellectual gulf that separated Spot behind a closed door when Henry and me until we had been married several months. Henry's grammar is so bad it is embarrassing. He is not informed on world affairs. When he attempts to discuss politics it is apparent he hasn't read a thing.

The friends Henry brings home from the office are uniformed and shallow. Their wives are stupid and dull. I've abandoned all hope of communicating with them.

What can a wife do when she is starved intellectually? I've met some bright women through my club work but I wouldn't dream of inviting them and their husbands to our home. They'd be bored to death by Henry. Any advice?—ONE WHO TRADED DOWN

Dear Traded: Maybe these dull wives can't distinguish between a Picasso and a hole in the rug but you might pick up some useful hints on how to remove an ink spot from a white damask table cloth.

Satisfy your intellectual appetite in the afternoon, Kiddo. If you were half as smart as you think you are you wouldn't be knocking your husband's limited education. You'd be building him up for doing as well as he has in spite of it. (P.S. He was smart enough to marry you, wasn't he?)

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 15-year-old girl with a problem. A few weeks ago we got a dog named Spot. My best friend (I will call her Donna) is scared to death of most dogs, and especially Spot.

Yesterday, she came to our house and the minute she saw Spot she got panicky. You know, Ann, dogs can tell when people are afraid and it makes them even unfriendlier.

Well, Spot began to growl and Donna ran upstairs and locked herself in the bathroom. She wouldn't come out till I assured her that Spot was in the back room with the door closed.

Today she said if I want to do homework with her I'll have to go to her house. It's no fun over there. Donna doesn't have a room of her own and someone is always sick.

I told her how I felt and she said, "I will come over if you promise to keep Spot in another room." I consider Spot a member of the family and I don't think it's fair to lock him up because of my friend's silliness. Do you agree?—ON THE SPOT

Junior Hospital Auxiliary Install Officers For 1965

Mrs. Harold Henderson installing the following officers for 1965 at the annual meeting of the Junior Hospital Auxiliary held in the Health Centre: Mrs. Louis Rampone, president; Mrs. J. R. Wilkison, past president; Mrs. Harold Pettman, 1st vice-president; Mrs. W. E. Manning, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. L. A. Snook, treasurer; Mrs. W. O. Aynesley, secretary; Mrs. H. R. Birch-Jones, buying convener; Mrs. R. G. Whillis, convener of volunteer services.

Outgoing president Mrs. J. R. Wilkison summarized a most successful year in which the Auxiliary made over $3,000 with their various projects such as the Hospital Dance, Rummage Sale, Hair Style Show, Hospital Fair and Calendar Sales.

The auxiliary spent approximately $3,000 for equipment and services to the hospital reported Mrs. Len Leathley, volunteer services director. The volunteer service commenced in February 1964 and now has 42 volunteer workers, 18 of whom are teen age girls who are known as Candy Strippers. The volunteers work in the admitting office, medical library and out patient department and deliver mail and flowers. The Candy Strippers work in the wards of the medical and surgical floors. A total of 1491 volunteer hours were donated in 1964.

The Junior Hospital Auxiliary active membership now stands at 70, and the associate membership at 64. The auxiliary has three life members, the newest of these being Mrs. E. M. Palmer who was presented with her life membership pin by Mrs. Wilkison at the meeting. Mrs. Palmer has donated 26 years to hospital work.

Mrs. C. V. Spielman and Mrs. C. O. Dardal, co-conveners of the hospital dance to be held on February 12 are busy completing plans for this affair which promises to be bigger and better than ever, and Mrs. W. F. Manning, who will convene the Hospital Fair to be held on May 12, has plans well underway for this popular annual event.

SPACE ENTHUSIAST PARIS (AP)—French motorists are continuing to battle in the streets despite public appeals to calm down. The latest fight in Paris occurred when two men fought over a parking place. One was taken to hospital with a broken arm.

Okanagan Academy is Scene Of Successful Hobby Show

A very successful Hobby Show sponsored by the Home and School Association of the Okanagan Stoops and Malcolm Graham Academy was held on Saturday last in the academy gymnasium.

Mrs. H. Palmer won first prize at the show with her large collection of shells and star fish. Some of her specimens having come from Hawaii where she and her husband spent the winter of '63-64.

Drawings in pencil, charcoal, water colors and oils were exhibited by Mrs. Arvel Sage, Mrs. Edward Quiring and Mrs. Don Ritchey, and R. Bauer showed copperware and painting on tree fungi.

Dr. and Mrs. A. W. N. Drutt's exhibit included rare stamps, old coins—several from the Middle East—petrified wood, marine life, rocks from many places, and phosphorescent rocks. Colored slides of the English countryside were also shown by Dr. and Mrs. Drutt.

Malcolm Graham and Arvel Sage exhibited mammals and birds as well as color model cars, tractors, trains, a doll house, hand sewn and knitted Barbie doll clothes, and stamps.

The table of baked goods was well patronized and the few items that remained unsold were quickly auctioned off by Dr. Drutt.

An added attraction to the Hobby Show was Leslie Berth's small purred Welsh pony "Comet" looking very smart in his black harness tucked to a glossy black Victory.

DINES BEWHISKERED CALGARY (CP)—Jeanne Jeffrey has 26 hungry mouths to feed. Her cats keep her busy. Ranging from such sophisticated animals as a pair of Burmese to common-or-tude tom cats, she first became interested in the felines after she attended a cat show six years ago here. Three of the animals are allowed in the house, the remainder have separate quarters in the basement or in the backyard.

SCIENCE LOVELY LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Scientist Karen Holten is lovely. A breeder of ants, a digger of worms from lawns, and an avid rock-hound, she has little in common with other 16-year-olds. Now her mother is trying to ease her child's loneliness by finding a suitable companion. Someone who would like to "play in the Flintstones' cave," advises her mother.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. JAY BECKER (Top Record-Holder in Masters' Individual Championship Play)

QU'IZ You are South, neither side vulnerable. The bidding has been:

South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
2 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass

What would you now bid with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠KJ7 ♠7 ♠Q83 ♠AKQ942
2. ♠A9 ♠J78 ♠6 ♠AKQJ864
3. ♠AKJ ♠KAS ♠2 ♠AKQJ875
4. ♠A7 ♠Q82 ♠KS ♠AKJ882
5. ♠AK ♠QJ84 ♠7 ♠AQJ1043

1. Three spades. The only other bids to consider are three notrump and four clubs, but neither of these would point as accurate a picture of the hand held as three spades.

A three notrump bid would miss the mark on several counts. To begin with, it would be dangerous to play at this contract, since the opponents might start out with five diamond tricks. Also, three notrump would conceal the support for spades, which might be the proper suit to play in.

A rebid in clubs would likewise suppress the spade support, and at the same time would exaggerate the power and length of the club suit.

2. Four clubs. It would be improper to raise to four hearts, since partner's three heart bid may have been based on a four-card suit. The four club bid shows a hand with minimum high-card values for the previous jump; at the same time it confirms the power of the club suit itself.

3. Four spades. It is important to tell partner at this point about the excellent spade support, and, also, that the jump to three clubs was based on maximum high-card value.

Note that this hand contains 18 high-card points; the two previous ones had only 15 points. The hope is that partner will continue towards a slam once he is assured that his spade support is facing powerful support.

4. Three notrump. This is a risky bid with only one diamond stopper and a club suit not entirely self-sufficient, but the only other feasible bid, four hearts, is even more dangerous.

Since partner may have bid hearts with a four-card suit, a three notrump bid is a reasonable possibility of making a slam, but we can do no more at this point than bid a game. The fact is that North may not have much of a hand, and that he may have stretched a point by responding to three clubs (which was not a forcing bid).

If North has three of the four key cards that are missing—the A-K of hearts, ace of diamonds, and king of clubs—he will presumably evaluate them properly for slam purposes. But the impetus for a slam must be provided by North, not by us.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

Mixed planetary influences now suggest that you control emotions and do not give vent to temperamental outbursts—especially in the hours before noon. You could antagonize those in a position to aid you later in the day if you show a lack of restraint.

Look for extremely pleasant situations in your domestic set-up, however.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates a fine year ahead. Your planetary influences are excellent, and you should make worthwhile gains not only in your life work, but in personal development as well.

Job-wise and financially, there are several periods when you can make notable advancement, namely: the latter half of April, May, August, September and November. Be conservative during the first half of April, however; also in November. In October, consolidate all gains and prepare for a period of further expansion in January, of 1966. The period between now and November should be especially helpful to creative workers.

Domestic relationships should be harmonious for most of the year ahead and, if you are single, you may find yourself attracted in late April, late June or August, New "romances" in March, May or October could prove disappointing, however.

Best periods for travel: April, June or August.

A child born on this day will be highly sensitive and impressionable; could make a great success as an educational writer.

'Municipalities Rapped For Financing Appeals

Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell of B.C. Thursday night rejected in Victoria a call from municipalities for more provincial funds to meet growing demands for services. Mr. Campbell accused municipal leaders of saying one thing at home and another when meeting with municipal leaders from other provinces. The entire "diatribe about municipal financing and this government's straight political hot air," he said during the Throne Speech debate. He said departmental statistics showed municipalities had a total of $17,600,000 in revenue surplus last year. In no other province were municipalities treated so well, he said.

The Queen went to the bier of Sir Winston Churchill Thursday night in an unprecedented gesture of royal homage and gratitude. The visit heightened the drama of ancient Westminster Hall where more than 150,000 people have moved slowly past Sir Winston's body where it lies in state.

President Heinrich Lübke of West Germany was arrested before the Second World War on suspicion of embezzlement.

East Germany's top propagandist, told a press conference the case against Lübke was dropped "on the basis of the amnesty law of Nov. 19, 1953." Lübke's press officer called the Communist charges "malicious lies."

E. David Fulton has declined an invitation to return to federal politics. The former federal justice and public works minister now is head of the British Columbia Progressive Conservative party.

Alfred Hardy, 57, former director of purchasing for the Quebec government, pleaded guilty Thursday in Quebec to four charges of fraud and conspiracy to defraud. He was fined $3,100 by chief sessions Judge Thomas Tremblay.

Leopold Dion, 39, condemned to be hanged Feb. 19 for the slaying of a 13-year-old boy, had his conviction upheld by the Quebec Court of Appeal. The verdict of the five-judge court was unanimous. Dion, 41, was found guilty in December 1963 of the murder of Pierre Marquis whose body was found with those of three other boys buried in a wooded area some 30 miles west of Quebec City.

B.C. Sores 'Miss Revenue'
VICTORIA (CP)—A recent agreement for timber licences in the Prince George area indicates the provincial government is losing millions of dollars in potential revenue, the B.C. legislature was told Thursday night.

John Squire (NDP-Alberta) said that under the agreement Catermole Timber Company will pay $12,000,000 more than the "market" bid determined on the basis of government assessments, which is paid by most firms seeking such licences on Crown timberlands.

Mr. Squire, a member of the legislature's forestry committee, said that if the government set a "realistic" price for the timber "we would be the wealthiest province in the whole of Canada."

Catermole initially bid the upset price for licences to support a proposed 200-ton-a-day pulp mill north of Prince George but later matched a counterbid by Prince George contractor Ben Ginter at the higher price.

Speaking during the throne speech debate, Mr. Squire also lashed out at fees being charged by large forest companies for commercial users of logging roads at the northern end of Vancouver Island. He said the firms wanted to charge bus companies $20 a trip to go over one of the roads.

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell interjected that the charge was "90¢ for a moving van."

Highest Ever GM Profits

DETROIT (AP)—The highest profits of any company in history were earned by General Motors Corporation in 1965 despite strikes that shut down its U.S., Canadian and Australian production lines.

GM, the world's largest manufacturing firm, said Thursday it earned $1,735,000,000 equal to $6.65 a share, compared with $1,592,000,000 or $5.56 a share, in 1963.

The GM profits were some $34,000,000 higher than the $1,700,000,000 earned in the 12 months ended last Nov. 30 by American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

GM, which said the figures were preliminary with final figures to be announced next month, reported it paid out $1,266,000,000 in dividends last year to its common shareholders, compared to $4 a share with $1.56 retained in 1963.

Chairman Frederic G. Donner and President John F. Gordon reported 964 sales at $17,600,000,000 a gain of three per cent over 1963.

They said GM worldwide payrolls totalled $4,600,000,000 in 1964, compared with $4,300,000,000 in 1963, with employment averaging 681,000, 21,000 more than the previous high of 660,000 in 1963.

A total of 6,114,000 cars and trucks were sold, compared to the previous high of 5,974,000 in 1963.

Dorion Inquiry Waits On For Tremblay's Document

MONTREAL (CP)—The Dorion vital point in his testimony on judicial inquiry is still waiting for Tremblay to produce a key document he promised in last Dec. 23.

Chief Justice Frederic Dorion of Quebec Superior Court said Thursday he wants to see a letter which Raymond Denis, former executive assistant to Mr. Tremblay, has referred to at shown him by Mr. Rouleau.

It looks As Though Berserk Giant Had Ramped Through California

EUREKA (AP)—A sea of mud and silt still covers miles of northern California, one month after devastating Christmas-week floods.

The area looks as if a berserk giant from a scary fairy tale has stalked the land.

Wreckage and debris that once were homes, businesses, barns and schools lie in twisted shapes like surrealist paintings.

Massive log jams, 25 to 30 feet high, blanket the landscape. Sections of bridges and chunks of highways are scattered about fields.

Northern California is a blend of noise and silence.

The highway crews, farmers, ranchers and businessmen work almost around the clock to restore the roads and the land and its towns.

SILENT AS DEATH
Pepperwood, a community of 250 once famous for its vegetables, lies under a sticky silt as high as desert dunes.

Webb, a frequent stop for tourists travelling the redwood forest trails, is as silent as death. No one remains in the ravaged community of 500.

The force and havoc of the holiday floods that roared across most of northern California becomes more vivid as the waters recede. The death toll was 25, the damage estimate ranges from $300,000,000 to $500,000,000.

Hundreds of persons whose property was in the path of the flood waters of the Red, Russian, Klamath and Feather rivers are returning to scrape out a new life from the scarred lands.

They wade in deep mud to lay new foundations for their homes. Much of the furniture is stacked on the second floors of larger homes.

The damage to the economy of northern California has been deeper than the physical hurt. Three-fourths of the lumber industry, the biggest money-maker in northern California, was swept away by the floods.

Churchill's Own Bodyguard Resigns From London Police

LONDON (CP)—Detective Sgt. Edmund Murray, Sir Winston Churchill's bodyguard for 14½ years, has resigned from the London Metropolitan police force. Murray, 47, said after Sir Winston's death Sunday: "What job could I do after this? Anything else would be an anticlimax."

He joined the force 18 years ago. Married with three children, he plans to work on a book about his years with Sir Winston.

Israeli President Zaman Shazar and former premier David Ben-Gurion will attend Sir Winston's funeral Saturday, the Israeli embassy said Wednesday. The two men will walk to and from St. Paul's Cathedral from their London hotel, because their religion prevents them from riding in cars on the Jewish Sabbath.

The greatest concentration of reporters and photographers since the burial of John F. Kennedy is gathering in London to watch Sir Winston's last journey. About 1,200 have applied for the 100 seats set aside for news representatives at St. Paul's Cathedral.

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery said in Cape Town, South Africa, Thursday he will not return to Britain for Sir Winston's funeral. Montgomery, 77, one of Churchill's wartime military leaders, is recuperating from a prostate operation.

He said doctors told him he was not fit enough to take the strain of an elaborate state funeral.

State Secretary Dean Rusk of the United States is expected to hold informal talks with British ministers when he comes to London to attend Sir Winston's funeral, officials said Thursday. Besides talking with Prime Minister Wilson, Rusk will meet Michael Stewart, Britain's new foreign secretary.

LONDON (CP)—John Diefenbaker, first lord of the admiralty took over, who had the last of many responsibility and resigned office to command a regiment on Churchill when the Canadian opposition leader was installed as a freeman of the City of London in February, 1963, flew in at dawn today to attend the state funeral Saturday.

Diefenbaker, accompanied by his wife, arrived in the same plane with Health Minister Judd LaMarsh, George Drew, former Canadian high commissioner in London, and Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland.

Prime Minister Pearson and other Canadian representatives arrived here Thursday.

The opposition leader, relaxing later at breakfast in his hotel suite, recalled that he first met Churchill in 1916 just after the failure of the Gallipoli campaign, for which the then Pan American said the message, transmitted over the Formosa Strait, passed through Syncom III in stationary orbit over the Gilbert Islands. The message—the first sent from an aircraft via satellite—was received at Camp Roberts, Calif.

FUTURE CAUTIOUSLY OPTIMISTIC
Whoopers Still With Us

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
The whooping crane has been saved so far from following the dodo into oblivion, but naturalists are keeping their fingers crossed over the future of the beautiful bird.

Good luck and publicity have helped pull the whooper back from the edge of extinction, wildlife experts say. The luck could change.

As the 26th year of careful nurturing began, the known number of the whooping crane—which had fallen to 15 in 1939—was up to 50. This record number for the period included 42 wild birds, migrating between Wood Buffalo Park in northern Alberta and a sanctuary at Aransas, Texas.

The stately whooper—North America's tallest bird—became the object of a rescue mission by the Canadian and United States governments after indiscriminate shooting plus the encroachment of civilization on nesting grounds had reduced it to the vanishing point.

PUSHED NORTH
Nesting areas, once common on both sides of the international border on the prairies, were pushed farther north. Today, the long migration adds extra hazards for the birds.

Officials of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service say the other main threat to the species' survival is a high rate of infant mortality as evident in the Aransas check of new birds each year. The new arrivals of 1964 totalled a record 10, but this contrasted with none the year before, when the Canadian nesting area was hit by high water.

The arriving adults numbered 32, none as the year before. In addition, the Canadian Wildlife Service picked up a youngster with a broken wing in Wood Buffalo Park in September and he was flown to a rearing station in Colorado. It is hoped to use him for breeding.

The U.S. wildlife service attributes the current high figure of whoopers largely to a "fortuitous trend," assisted by publicity. But weather in any season, it says, could wipe out the new crop of chicks and play havoc with the adults, as a hurricane did in Louisiana in 1939.

MULTIPLY IN ZOO
The lone survivor of a flock of 13 in the New Orleans Audubon Park zoo was Josephine, Crip, wounded by gunfire, became her mate in 1949 and they survive with four offspring.

A seventh whooper in the zoo is Rosie, recovered in Texas in 1956 with a broken wing.

A new effort to help the whoopers multiply is to be tried on in Wood Buffalo Park where eggs are to be gathered and the young birds raised in captivity.

The free birds commute 2,500 miles between Wood Buffalo Park and Aransas. The Wood Buffalo area is a national park of 11,000,000 acres in a wilderness region on the Alberta-Northwest Territories border and is the only known breeding area of the whoopers. They leave for there each April from Aransas and return in the fall.

Aransas is a national wildlife refuge established by the U.S. government in 1937 on broad peninsula on the Gulf of Mexico. Its 47,201 acres of upland and coastal marsh are on the Central Flyway and provide a home for up to 300 species of birds. As many as 35,000 Canada geese and 120,000 ducks turn up for the winter.

The whoopers arrive singly, or by couples or families. Their first act on landing is to stake out individual territories of about one square mile. Other birds are chased away. The public also is barred from the extremely shy whoopers' nesting grounds from special observation posts.
